Refinishes Antiques With Brushes
Used On McKinley's Carriages

Deemer At Work In His Shop

Neighbors Changed Retirement Plans of Ross Deemer, Columbiana

W. Ross Deemer of Columbiana, who helped to build many of President William McKinley's carriages, still wields—with a deft touch, despite his 74 years—the prized brushes which once put satin finishes to the coaches which carried the one-time president of the United States on many of his trips within the capital and in his hometown of Canton.

This time Deemer is using those very same brushes to refinish antiques—a job wished on him by neighbors.

The fact is, Ross came back to his home in Columbiana 10 years ago to lead a retired life. But things didn't work out that way. His neighbors, learning of his skill, asked him to do over a few pieces of furniture and the veteran carriage maker was too energetic to refuse their pleas.

"I guess I'm semi-retired," he commented at his workshop situated at the rear of his home, 310 N. Main st., in Columbiana.

Deemer's ability to transform any piece of decrepit-looking, century-old furniture into a beautiful antique soon spread beyond the village of Columbiana. Today he refinishes articles for a large out-of-town department store and his trade extends throughout eastern Ohio and western Pennsylvania.

Deemer went to Canton in 1889 and learned his trade with the Canton Buggy & Gear Co., then situated on E. Tucarawas st. After working for the J. O. Green Carriage Co. on Huron & Euclid in Cleveland in 1896, he returned to Canton and then went to Chicago.

It was during his association with the Canton Buggy company that he worked on carriages for the late President McKinley. The Canton concern took care of all of the late President's carriage works so when Deemer decided to go to Chicago, President McKinley gave him a personal letter of recommendation.

ACT TODAY TO AID VETERANS NEEDING HOMES

Will Forbid Commercial Or Industrial Repairs Unless Authorized

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
WASHINGTON, March 26.—The government, acting to speed construction of homes for veterans, today clamped drastic restrictions on building or repair of virtually all other structures.

The Civilian Production Administration issued a far-reaching order, effective at once, forbidding the start of any new commercial or industrial construction unless specifically authorized.

This applies to such things as stores, office buildings, roadhouses, theaters and factories.

The objective is to make more scarce building materials available for the 2,700,000 new homes the government is aiming at during the next two years.

Has Broad Application
The measure, announced by National Housing Expediter Wilson W. Wyatt and CPA Administrator John D. Small, applies throughout the United States and in Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands. It probably will be extended later to Alaska and Hawaii.

It permits completion of any construction already begun, provided "any of the materials which are to be an integral part of the structure have been incorporated in it on the site" before today, and if work is being carried on at present.

The order does not apply to construction, repair, alteration or installation jobs on which the cost does not exceed these allowances:

- 1. Houses designed for five or fewer families, also farmhouses or other structures such as a garage, on residential property—$400 a job.
- 2. Hotel, resort, apartment house or other residential building designed for occupancy by more than five families—$1,000 a job.
- 3. Commercial or service establishment, such as office, store, garage, theater, warehouse, radio station, gas service station—$1,000 a job.
- 4. Farm buildings excluding farmhouses—$1,000 a job.
- 5. Church, hospital, school, public building, charitable institution—$1,000 a job.
- 6. Factory, plant or other industrial structure used for manufacture of a commercial airport or carrier terminal; railway or street car building; research laboratory; pilot plant; motion picture set; utility structure, including telephone and telegraph; gas or petroleum refining or distribution, except service stations and garages—$15,000 a job.
- 7. Other structures—$200 a job.

Under the order, no job which ordinarily would be done as a single piece of work may be sub-divided for the purpose of coming within the cost allowances.

Technically the order requires formal authorization before even homes for veterans can be built. The National Housing administration expects to give these homes the green light, however, under its emergency housing program for veterans.

To carry out the new order, CPA is setting up a regional construction office in each of the 71 cities where the Federal Housing Administration has offices.

Working with each of these CPA offices will be an advisory committee of prominent citizens, who Small said, "will screen each project in the light of the peculiarities of the local situation."

REPORT TOJO NOW AMNESIA VICTIM
TOKYO, March 26.—Former Premier Hideko Tojo, awaiting trial as Japan's number one war criminal and fearing the worst, has begun to lose his memory, authoritative Japanese sources said today.

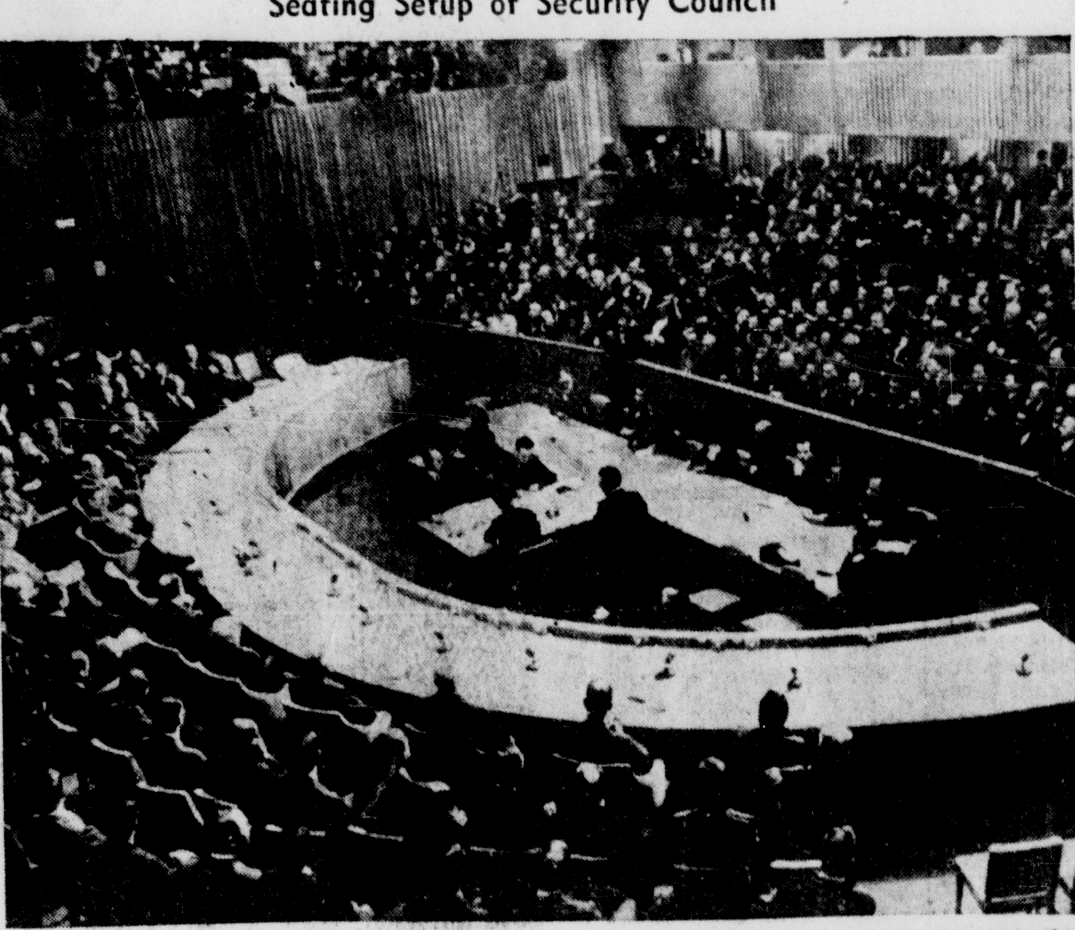

The Japanese added that American officials were "very dissatisfied" with this development and had expressed belief Tojo was "feigning."

The reliable sources said that during questioning by American prosecutors, the former premier found he was no longer able to recall dates and other important details of momentous events of his reign.

They reported Tojo said his "amnesia" was caused by his attempted suicide, when he shot himself in the chest with a small caliber revolver.

Girl Scout Anniversary
Dinner Attended By 100

Helping to make a better world through character building and better citizenship was the keynote sounded at the 34th birthday anniversary dinner of the Salem Girl Scout council, which sponsors local activities, last night in the Memorial building.

Approximately 100 attended, including council members, leaders, their husbands, representatives of civic clubs, ministers and guests.

Mrs. Fred Blevins, who was recently elected Girl Scout commissioner for another three year term, presided.

In her welcome she said that Girl Scouting in America was organized March 12, 1912, in Savannah, Ga., with 12 girls and two leaders. It now has a membership of more than 1,000,000. Juliet Low was the founder.

The local organization has been in existence around eight years and has a membership of 312.

Council Introduced
Mrs. Blevins introduced the other members of the council. They are: Deputy commissioner, Mrs. Walter Ferrall; secretary, Mrs. George Huston; treasurer, Mrs. Leroy Bates; service chairman, Mrs. Howard Gillette; camp chairman, Mrs. John Taylor; cookie and calendar chairman, Mrs. George Loder; registration, Mrs. Marvin DeGrave; organization chairman, Mrs. R. J. Hunter; publicity, Mrs. South Metzger; committee training chairman, Mrs. R. T. Holzbach; program chairman, Mrs. J. K. Rawsthorne and advisor, Mrs. James Helm.

Mrs. Michael Schuller, president of the Leaders association, told of the activities of this group and paid tribute to Mrs. D. C. Rossing, executive director, who has charge of the leaders training course.

Mrs. Rawsthorne, who attended the national convention last week in Atlantic City, imparted some of the spirit of that gathering in an interesting report. Two thousand delegates and guests attended, she said.

Mrs. Rossing presented five-year pins to Mrs. Chester Mellinger, Mrs. M. H. Mahwinney, Mrs. Arthur Greenamyer and Mrs. A. V. Smith. The executive director also outlined the new association form of government and was in charge of the training demonstrations.

She added that jobs and promotions are going to "too many civilians who for one reason and another were not in the armed services."

Asserting that protests are reaching congress "from all points of the compass," Mrs. Bolton said "agencies would do well to examine themselves and change their methods before congressional determination to give the returning veteran a decent break expresses itself in investigation and action."

SPEAKS AFTER RUSSIA SAYS CASE SETTLED

Soviet Ambassador Claims Withdrawal of Troops Ends Discussion

BY JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

NEW YORK, March 26.—Secretary of State Byrnes objected sharply in the United Nations Security Council today to a Russian proposal that the council should reject Iran's appeal for help in settling its troubles with the Soviet Union.

Byrnes, who had been taking copious notes on the arguments of Soviet Ambassador Andrei Gromyko, arose immediately after the slow-voiced Gromyko finished his contention that the troubles were already settled as a result of the Moscow-Tehran agreement for withdrawal of Soviet troops.

Instead of merely asking for a delay in taking up the appeal filed last week by Ambassador Hussein Ala of Iran, Gromyko said Prime Minister Stalin had announced the agreement for withdrawal of the troops.

They began getting out last Sunday, he added, and thus the Iranian crisis was being handled in accord with a Security Council admonition to the two nations at London to settle their differences by direct negotiations.

Seeks Omission
"For these reasons, Mr. Chairman," Gromyko said to presiding officer Dr. Quo Tai-Chi of China, "I propose that the case not be placed on the agenda."

Byrnes said that if an agreement had been reached Russia should have filed a statement of this before the council.

"The Iranian government has not withdrawn its complaint," he said.

"All that is now contemplated," Byrnes argued, "is the adoption of an agenda which would give to the Iranian government an opportunity to present its case. Surely the United Nations cannot deny to any government the opportunity to present its facts."

Gromyko said Iran's letter of appeal for council help contained subject matter not "fit to be placed on the agenda" of the council.

He spoke after Council President Quo Tai Chi of China had swept aside as unready for action technical items on the agenda of today's council session, second in America, and plunged the peace-enforcement agency into discussion of the tangled Iranian issue.

Both American and British representatives had made it plain before the meeting that they intended to insist on a full and immediate report from the Soviet Union and Iran on what they have agreed to about getting Red army troops out of the Middle Eastern nation. Gromyko had let it be known that, barring new instructions from Moscow, he would seek to block any immediate consideration.

The great powers went into today's meeting split along the usual line, but split much less seriously than if Russian troops had not been at the time already withdrawing from Iran.

The Soviet council member got around to describing Iranian charges as unfit for council consideration after Eddy Gilmore's letter from Prime Minister Stalin last Friday as evidence that Stalin fully backs the United Nations and its Security Council.

MINE STRIKE LOOMS MONDAY

Lewis Warns That Miners Will "Stay Home With Families" Next Week

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, March 26.—John L. Lewis today notified bituminous coal operators he will end their present contract this Sunday at midnight and 400,000 miners will "stay home with their families" next week.

Lewis, at a news conference, said "There will be no miners' blood spilled" next week and that lives will be saved and injuries averted.

Will Not Extend Contract
The United Mine Workers' president said there will be no extension of the current contract, making it clear he will insist on a new agreement before the soft coal miners return to work.

Lewis said the action is being taken "at a time when it will be least inconvenient to the public." There are close to 47,000,000 tons of coal in storage, he added.

He estimated that for the last couple of weeks the weekly output has averaged 13,000,000 tons, a record for the industry.

Lewis said negotiations with the soft coal operators will continue and that "anytime we reach agreement we will try to make it effective at the earliest possible moment."

Lewis told reporters that the counter proposals submitted by the operators yesterday were a "mumble jumble of something entirely unsatisfactory and not responsive to the necessities of the occasion."

Crippled Plane Lands Safely At Youngstown
YOUNGSTOWN, March 26.—Six Youngstown fire companies, a Red Cross emergency truck, a city ambulance, a fire crash crew from Warren and at least nine private ambulances stood by as a North-west Airlines plane with 17 passengers aboard was landed yesterday afternoon with one engine out of commission.

The flight was out of New York for Detroit. Over Philipsburg, Pa., one of the two engines failed. Pilot Captain C. W. J. Curry and Co-Pilot William Gorman, radioed the airport to be prepared for an emergency landing. Curry and Gorman brought the plane in safely.

Pearl of the Month

The Civilian Production Administration spokesman, textiles division, who says there would be enough stockings for everybody if women would quit trying so hard to find them, has given consumers the pearl of wisdom for the month of March.

If consumers would quit trying to find butter, there'd soon be a surplus. If they'd quit looking for houses, the real estate market would be quiet. If no one showed any special interest in used cars, the prices would drop. If men didn't keep hunting for shorts and shirts, these articles soon would be on sale at bargain prices. If no one wanted to build a house there would be no lumber shortage, and if men would quit casting an appreciative and longing eye at attractive women it would be no time at all until the pursued would become the pursuers and women would be picking up restaurant checks and buying the theater tickets.

All it would take is a revolution in human nature.

Whose Program Is It?

Harry Truman's argument for party unity to carry out the Democratic program must have left many doubts in the minds of his listeners at Jackson Day rallies as it left in the composite mind of the public. Mr. Truman as head of his party, is in a tough situation.

Southern Democrats, whose right to their political affiliation is clearer than the right of Henry A. Wallace, insist that the President does not represent their views, yet are criticized by Mr. Wallace and threatened with expulsion from their own party for expressing dissent.

On the very day that Mr. Truman was appealing for unity, George Adden, secretary-treasurer of United Automobile Workers, C.I.O., was saying in his annual report to that union: "We doubt if there was ever a president in the history of the country who made so many suggestions and recommendations, and then forgot all about them. He has faltered and weakened at the very time when the whole country was crying for sound and courageous leadership. From the start we were doubtful as to his ability to furnish the kind of leadership which would revitalize his party into one actively sponsoring and fighting for progressive legislation." Mr. Adden speaks for many radicals in the labor movement.

Mr. Truman, for an obvious reason, lacks the power to unify his party. Its disintegration as a coalition became inevitable with the death of Franklin D. Roosevelt, who founded and maintained the coalition. Mr. Roosevelt's power was his ability to muster a popular majority. It was personal, not organizational. There was no time under Mr. Roosevelt's leadership when his followers were genuinely unified, but they remained together as a working coalition because they knew their leader's strength at the polls. Mr. Truman never has demonstrated any strength at the polls, which is at the bottom of his party's inclination to doubt that he ever will. His troubles will be over when he carries every state except Maine and Vermont in a presidential election.

Curiosity and Diplomacy

Postponement of the first atomic bomb demonstrations by six weeks will sharpen curiosity, whatever secondary effect it may have on diplomacy. A miracle would be required to get the demonstration postponed indefinitely, which is the only imaginable relief that could be forthcoming for the diplomatic tension the atomic bomb has created.

Curiosity is potent, certainly more potent than anything which can be done to stifle it by those apprehensive of its results in the matter of exploding atomic bombs. There is an aspect of curiosity in the matter of atomic energy, moreover, that is going to assert itself even more strongly after the first series of demonstrations takes place.

They will seem to call for further tests to clear up questions raised by the first series of tests. It is absurd to suppose that these tests will be the beginning and the end of all atomic experimentation. One demonstration will lead naturally to another demonstration and so on until those who are responsible for the handling of atomic explosions feel they have all the evidence they need.

Each demonstration will be in the nature of a war game, regardless of what it is called. There will be no way to dissociate curiosity from diplomacy, just as there is no way to do so now. Atomic bombs are the most potent military force in existence. They would still be so even if the United States never caused another one to explode.

The Moral Issue With Russia

Any attempt to understand why Russia has revived fear of war at the moment when humanity wanted to take comfort in the thought that World War II had secured peace reaches this conclusion:

That the Russian government has shocked its wartime allies by an attitude no easier to forgive than the pre-war attitude of the German government—the attitude that precipitated World War II.

The explanation of the new fear of war which chills men's hearts is not what the Russian government says it aims to do, which is to give the Soviet Union security, but its use of the same methods with which Germany, Japan and Italy alienated world sympathy.

They, too, were seeking their various versions of security. While the passions of war still made a cool appraisal difficult, it is likely that historians may judge these versions less unfavorably than they were judged in our time. A moral issue was raised.

The legitimacy of the Axis goals was ruined by the means of attaining them. The desire of Germany and Italy for unification of Europe, for instance, became only the plan of warrior nations for conquest. Japan's desire for a friendly and cooperative China became a Japanese plot to enslave a nation. The use of force brought on World War II, not the professed desire of nations for wider margins of security.

Point by point, Russia can make a strong case for its program to widen its margin of security in Europe and Asia. Obviously, it is not the issue of whether or not Russia is entitled to warm water ports, friendly neighbors and access to oil-producing areas that disturbs Americans.

It is the issue of aggression vs. conciliation—whether Russia shall get what it wants by overriding its opposition or shall use negotiation and compromise inside a framework of cooperative security.

The hope that sustained the Allies in World War II—the hope Russia was believed to share—was that defeat of the Axis powers would discredit aggression. The Russian government now seems to be saying that the hope was fatuous and in vain; that it was not shared by Moscow; that Moscow will take what it wants and what it can get if military opposition asserts itself and then will over-ride the military opposition. That is the road to World War III.

This attitude and the conviction of the other wartime allies—the United Nations—that international security demands faithful observance of the resolutions stated in the Atlantic Charter—cannot be reconciled. They clashed in World War II. That is why Russia, by seeming to adopt the World War II attitude of Germany, Japan and Italy, has revived fear of World War III before the grass has covered the graves of millions who died in the hope that further war might be outlawed by mutual agreement to abandon aggression.

The Stars Say

For Wednesday, March 27

THE auguries are for a lively, active and important day in which the energies, resources and talents may be concentrated on placing the affairs, both public, business, and private, on a lasting basis for growth and expansion.

There is danger of overdoing in this endeavor, with excess and extravagance in the expenditure of funds, assets, influence, as well as physical and mental forces. Safeguard these and keep alert to jealousy, strife and acrimony.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a lively and productive year, in which public, private, financial and business affairs challenge the best skills, talents and energies. There is a menace of carrying this to excess, far beyond tangible resources and the physical health and mental poise, largely because of enmity, antagonism, real quarrels and conflicts.

To meet such with final victory and lucrative returns, conserve the energies, maintain composure and adjust to such by shrewd calculation and far vision. This also is purely personal relations.

A child born on this day will have much talent and adaptability to public or private success, but it may meet opposition on which it may squander its financial and physical energies.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Disorders Leading To Cancer

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

LONG observation has taught medical men to recognize certain non-fatal conditions as forerunners of the deadly cancer. This is a vastly hopeful and important advance.

Today, cancer is second only to diseases of the heart and blood vessels as a cause of death. Yet, this mortality rate might be materially reduced, according to Dr. Hugh R. Spencer of the University of Maryland, by eliminating these precancerous conditions.

By precancerous is meant that which precedes or comes before cancer—conditions which may, or do inevitably lead to cancer.

Skin Condition
For example, there is a condition of the skin known as actinic dermatitis, a skin inflammation resulting from excessive prolonged exposure to sunlight. Dr. Spencer believes that invariably this condition progresses from inflammation of the skin and overgrowth of the tissues to the development of skin cancer.

Hence, the removal of these overgrowths of tissue before they have become cancerous is an important preventive measure.

About one out of every five cases of skin cancer of the scalp and arms and legs develop in old scars of burns or ulcers. Sebaceous cysts of the skin which are swellings containing a fatty material, develop into cancer in about one out of twenty-five, according to Dr. Spencer. Thus, these skin disturbances should receive prompt treatment by the physician so that the danger of cancer is removed.

Result of Childbirth
In the case of women, tears of the lower part of the womb which occurs as a result of childbirth also may be factors in producing cancer, if they are neglected.

Hence, it is Dr. Spencer's opinion that cancer of the womb can be reduced in frequency by proper treatment of these tears.

Furthermore, women past 40 years of age should be regularly examined at least once every six months so that should cancer develop it may be detected early and operation performed at once. During this examination, if any suspicious growth is seen, a bit of the tissue may be removed and examined under the microscope in order to make certain of the diagnosis.

Breast Cancer
Cancer of the breast in women with chronic inflammation of the breast is from two to four times as frequent as in women with normal breasts. However, there is no means known for telling in just which cases the cancer may develop. If there is any doubt, a bit of the breast tissue may also be removed for examination under the microscope.

How good to know that cancer can be forestalled, scotched before it can begin to develop. But here, as always where cancer is concerned, "prompt" and "early" are the words of hope. They are hopeful words even after it occurs because with immediate treatment many lives can still be saved.

Letters to Dr. Bundesen should be addressed in care of 235 E. 45th st., New York City.

Washington Round-up

News and Views, Briefly On What's Going On In Capital

By EARL BERKLEY
WASHINGTON, March 26.—Clarke Brown of Blanchester won't go from the house to become Republican national chairman. He's telling colleagues so despite considerable talk that he would be chosen. Chairman Herbert Brown, who resigned, would accept the job if he could handle it by taking a leave of absence from congress to direct the national campaign. But the Republican committee apparently wants the new boss to be "full time" without having to worry about other chores.

Rep. Al Weichel of Sandusky says the OPA is interfering with the war veterans to get in.

Head to the house a letter from a veteran complaining that the OPA refused him a quota of sugar for a store he could lease. The agency contended, Weichel said, that the veteran was not entitled to sugar because he did not own the store equipment.

Rep. Robert Crosser, 30 years a member of the house, says he is ready for a showdown fight for re-election. His health much improved, he made his decision as a result of opposition by Ray Miller, Cayahoga county Democratic chairman.

It will be the first time in 14 years that Crosser has stumped his district.

"I intend to win," he said.

CIO Leadership May Hinge On Thomas-Reuther Fight

BY MAX HALL
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., March 26.—The rough and tumble fight between R. J. Thomas and Walter Reuther for the presidency of the United Auto Workers is of the utmost importance to all organized labor.

The winner may well become the next president of the CIO. Labor people have long recognized that if Philip Murray should retire as CIO head within the next few years—or if anything should happen to him—his successor might logically come from the UAW.

The two biggest and strongest unions in the CIO are the United Auto Workers and the United Steelworkers. Murray is president of the Steelworkers.

The Thomas-Reuther campaign besides having national implications, is one of the most dramatic chapters in the history of bitter factionalism in the UAW-CIO.

Native of East Palestine

Roland Jay Thomas, president of the UAW-CIO for the last seven years, is a burly man with a foghorn voice. He is 45. He was born in East Palestine, Ohio; went to school in Youngstown and settled in Detroit in 1922.

There he became a welder, first for Cadillac and then for Chrysler. In 1933 he was elected president of an independent union in a Chrysler plant. This group merged with a Dodge plant union headed by Richard T. Frankenstein and they called themselves the Independent Auto Workers association. Thomas became vice-president with Frankenstein president.

In 1936 the Frankenstein-Thomas group entered the young and struggling United Auto Workers, which in that same year left the AFL, joined the CIO and began its existence as the UAW-CIO.

Thomas became a UAW-CIO vice president in 1937. Early in 1939, when President Homer Martin was thrown out of the union, Thomas was made president.

During the war, Thomas was a labor member of the National War Labor board and a member of President Roosevelt's labor advisory committee. He is housing director of the CIO, and active in CIO affairs.

Now for the challenger in the fight: Walter Philip Reuther is 38, red-haired, athletic, a spellbinding speaker.

Led GM Strike

Reuther is the man who led the General Motors strike, in which his strategy has been both praised and criticized in labor circles.

He was born in Wheeling, W. Va. His father was a labor leader. At the age of 15 he went to work for a steel company and learned the trade of tool and die maker. He was fired for organizing the men in protest against Sunday and holiday work.

In 1927 Reuther went to Detroit. He was a Ford company foreman. He worked for several companies. Meanwhile he studied in his spare time at Wayne university. In 1932 he was fired again for labor activities. He and his brother, Victor, took a three year trip around the world. They visited England, Russia, China, Japan, and other countries working in factories and studying industry and labor.

In 1935 they returned to Detroit. Walter Reuther became head of a Detroit local of the UAW, and was elected a member of the union's executive board in 1936. He led the first major strikes in the auto industry, at the Kelsey Hayes Wheel Co. in December, 1936.

In 1940, Reuther advanced the "Reuther plan" for using auto plant facilities to make war planes. This was what first brought him to national attention. In 1942 he was elected one of the two vice-presidents of the UAW.

The stage now is set. The election will be held Wednesday. All of organized labor is watching to see what happens.

Republican Leader Cites Dem Errors, Asks GOP Congress

CLEVELAND, March 26.—Referring to what she termed "the dreadful mistakes" of the nation's foreign policy, Mrs. Katharine Kennedy Brown, of Dayton, O., vice chairman of the Republican National committee, called for the election of a Republican congress this year.

"We can see the dreadful mistakes of our foreign policy in the past 12 years—Yalta and Potsdam are only two—and the pitiful weakness of the present administration," she declared in an address at the Middle West and Middle Atlantic regional conference of the National Federation of Women's Republican clubs yesterday.

"The need for the election of a Republican congress this year, which has the power to provide some strong leadership until we can elect a Republican president two years later, is more than apparent," she said.

Mrs. Brown, who also is president of the Ohio Federation of Women's Republican clubs, said "I agree that Russia does not want war now, but if things go on at their present trend, I am sure that if given all she asks in machinery, technical education, loans, etc., she will want war in five to ten, to fifteen years, to realize her dreams of world domination—the goal of all dictators."

In a session before the regional conference opened today, the advisory board of the national federation endorsed a recommendation for one "wheatless day" each week, as an aid to the American food conservation program for relief of famine-threatened areas of the world.

Mrs. Brown, who also is president of the Ohio Federation of Women's Republican clubs, said "I agree that Russia does not want war now, but if things go on at their present trend, I am sure that if given all she asks in machinery, technical education, loans, etc., she will want war in five to ten, to fifteen years, to realize her dreams of world domination—the goal of all dictators."

In a session before the regional conference opened today, the advisory board of the national federation endorsed a recommendation for one "wheatless day" each week, as an aid to the American food conservation program for relief of famine-threatened areas of the world.

Patrolman's Shots Halt Youths' Bid For Freedom

MIAMI, Fla., March 26.—Three youthful prisoners who made a break from Miami's skyscraper jail were back in their cells today because their luck and nerve ran out.

They overpowered a matron and an elevator operator and forced their way from the 24th floor of the courthouse-jail in downtown Miami yesterday but quit only 50 yards from the building under a volley of shots fired by Patrolman David Guiler.

The prisoners were identified as Robert Eugene David, held by the FBI in connection with a $12,000 jewel theft in Charleston, S. C.; Richard Grant, of Akron, O., arrested March 5 by FBI agents for Akron authorities, and Robert Bonner, alias Gerald L. Favell, held by immigration authorities since Feb. 14 on charges of illegally entering the country from Canada.

COACHES MAKE SELECTIONS ON MYTHICAL FIVE

Kent State, Muskingum, Toledo University Gain Squad Berths

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, O., March 26.—The University of Akron Zippers, co-champions of the Ohio conference, today placed two players on the All-Conference basketball team selected for the Associated Press by a vote of league coaches.

The other three members of the combination that consists of three Sophomores and two Seniors, represent Muskingum, Kent State and Toledo.

Akron's two first team members are Frank Wahl at Forward and Sam Serves at guard. They were two of the highest scorers on the Zipper organization that won 19 of 24 games and finished in a dead heat with Wittenberg for the loop championship.

Larry Kukura of Muskingum, at forward, is an 18-year-old Sophomore from Campbell. He barely finished out the season, withdrawing from school on March 1 to await induction into the Army.

Height At Center

The center is big Sylvester (Stretch) Goedde of the University of Toledo, who towers six feet, eight inches. Goedde, who was a professional baseball pitcher before entering Toledo, also is a Sophomore.

Serves' running mate at guard is Clayton West of Canton, a 24-year-old veteran of service with the Marchant Marine. West, like Serves, is a Senior.

There wasn't a single unanimous first team choice although Wahl and Serves were favored heavily in the voting.

Here are the first and second teams:

CHAPMAN GAME PLACES THIRD IN SINGLES

Rolls Ten Successive Strikes, Misses Final By One

(By Associated Press)
BUFFALO, N. Y., March 26.—Jim Chapman, Sandusky Ohio, kegler, who came within 11 points of making a perfect game in the American Bowling Congress world championship tournament, says "I guess it just wasn't in the books for me to get that 300 game."

Performing yesterday, Chapman moved into third place in the tournament singles division with a 677, grossed on games of 181, 207 and 289.

His last figure marked the highest individual game of the current meet and also was the dramatic high spot of the tourney to date.

The 36-year-old Chapman, who has bowled for about 20 years, fired 10 successive strikes down alley 4 in his third game and then, as the crowd watched tensely, threw his corner-hook ball for the 11th time.

Missed One
Nine pins scattered, but the No. 5 maple refused to fall.

Chapman took his disappointment with good grace and said last night he thought he had "become nervous after the sixth frame."

"I'll keep on trying," he added, "maybe I'll get the 300 tomorrow. Maybe in next year's ABC."

Meanwhile, Milwaukee's Casey Kroeninger, knocked down 679 pins to take over second place in the singles division. The 24-year-old Army veteran, now a catcher for the Cleveland Indians, made his total on a 213-213-253 series.

SPORT CHATTER

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

NEW YORK, March 26.—They're giving the old Indian game of lacrosse back to the Indians this year. Vic Starzenski, former Rensselaer coach, is taking steps to introduce the game at the Albuquerque, N. M., Indian school. . . . When he heard that Elroy Hirsch finally had admitted signing with John Keeshin's Chicago Rockets, the football Giants' Jack Mara commented: "He'll be awfully lonely out there in Soldiers field at night." . . . The Boston Braves owners are reported to be thinking seriously about putting a weather-proof canopy over their ball park. . . . Ben Carnevale, retiring North Carolina basketball coach, has become so adept on the golf course that the only person in Chapel Hill who can beat him is Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page.

WHAT'S THAT AGAIN?

Extract from a Long Island university handout: "The former LIU brothers, Howie and Lenny Kader, will return to LIU next term but may not be eligible for basketball competition because both played in several professional games after they joined the Army."

END OF THE LINE

After three of Louisiana State's coaches were hurt when their car struck a dead mule and turned over, one of them, Red Swanson, received a letter from a Missourian saying: "If it had been a good Missouri mule, sir, you would never have left the road." . . . And with white mule they'd never even touch the road.

THE BUILDING UP

"Has anyone ever noticed that the U. of Pennsylvania has a 'Blanchard Hall'?" asks Jimmy Haughton, Villanova college publicist. . . . "I don't think they named it after Doc from Army. We play them next season and we don't plan to call any buildings after Blanchard." . . . Why not? The boys all say that when you tackle Doc it feels like hitting a brick house.

MIKAN MAKES PRO DEBUT IN CHICAGO, SCORES 17 POINTS

Gears, Midland, Anderson Winners In Opening Tourney Tilts

CHICAGO, March 26.—Lanky George Mikan, the toast of collegiate basketball for four years, today was just one of the boys in the world's professional championship basketball tournament in which competition is rough and tough, and points come cheap.

The Chicago American Gears, who recently signed Mikan to a $60,000, five-year contract, managed to trim the Pittsburgh Raiders, 69-58, as the 14-team tournament opened at the Chicago stadium last night, but the former De Paul ace didn't steal the show.

Scoring laurels went to "Ancient" Slim Wintermute, former Oregon university star, who tallied 23 points to pace the Midland, Mich. Dows to a 72-53 verdict over the Indianapolis Krautsks.

Outdone By Rosen

Mikan, who made his stadium professional debut before 10,520 fans with a 17-point bag, also was outscored by Arnold (Stiltz) Risen, former Ohio State star, who garnered 20 points for the losing Indianapolis team and Ed Stanczak, who never played college basketball, but led the Anderson, Ind., Chiefs to a 59-46 triumph over the Cleveland Alhams with 21 points.

Three more first-round games are scheduled Wednesday night, including the Oshkosh, Wis., All-Stars vs Detroit Manfields; Toledo, Ohio vs the New York Rens; and the Baltimore Bulls vs the Dayton Ohio Bombers.

The Youngstown, Ohio, Bears, previously were scheduled to play the Rens, but had to be replaced when their scoring star, Pierre (Huck) Hartman, died suddenly.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

WHAT SALEM NEEDS

Editor, The News:

Orchids to the Salem News sports editor for bringing an important item to the attention of at least those who read his "Tourney Talk" on March 7.

It is about time that more people in the city of Salem are made to realize we are standing still while other cities even smaller than ours are progressing rapidly.

There are many "gripes" in the minds of Salemites who would like to see Salem advance but right now the one thing that is uppermost in the minds of most of them is the need of a new high school and a field house befitting a city of this size.

If we had a field house with a capacity for 5,000 spectators, sectional (and perhaps even regional) basketball tournaments would be held here because it is centrally located and easily accessible. A venture of this kind would surely pay for itself in a comparatively short time as other schools have already proven by experience!

If we had a new high school building it would be the first time in at least ten years that our high school was not over-crowded. Provide our high school students with a new building with good lighting, adequate facilities for vocational as well as the usual educational training, and Salem High will turn out better and more useful citizens than it ever has before.

While we are at it, why not also include in the plans an auditorium large enough to set approximately 3,000 persons so that it could be used for civic gatherings as well as high school assemblies, etc.; and, if it isn't asking too much of the conservatists all at once, why not a swimming pool?

When Salem comes through with the above two buildings we will really have something to be proud of and then we can start "harping" about the other "gripes" which necessarily take second place right now—eventually, perhaps, we will have the kind of city we should have had a long time ago.

Use Of Jet Engine Still Long Way Off

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND — How soon will planes powered by turbine-type jet engines be used on non-military aviation?

Research experts attending the national aircraft propulsion meeting of the Institute of Aeronautical Sciences bunched that question around in a press symposium and came out with an estimate of around 10 years.

Possibly in five years short-range commercial transports might have that motive power, and in eight or 10 years its use might be general in commercial aviation, they said.

But for small private planes—the "puddle jumpers"—there were no estimates, it being decided that such developments were too far in the future to predict.

A remark that it probably would take 10 to 20 years to "get thoroughly reliable jet engines" was made by Samuel R. Puffer, design engineer of the Aircraft Gas Turbine division of General Electric Co.

It promptly was challenged by Robert M. Stanley of the Bell Aircraft Co. Stanley said his company has yet to experience engine failure on jet planes and that jet engines are "far less trouble" than conventional reciprocating engines.

Alter Military Tactics, Yamashita Advises U. S.

WASHINGTON, March 26—Japanese General Tomoyuki Yamashita advised the nation that he hanged him Feb. 23 as a war criminal to ignore traditional ideas of military strategy in preparing against the possibility of another conflict.

In an article dictated from his Manila death cell and published today in the semi-official Infantry Journal Yamashita told his conquerors that the atomic bomb and long range planes mean that the textbooks of West Point and Annapolis must be rewritten.

The ill-fated "Tiger of Malaya," predicting that any future major war will be settled by a single blow from the air, argued therefore that the infantry has lost its once vital role.

will add 25,000,000 conductor feet to present cable facilities along Lincoln ave., Pershing st. and Sugartree alley.

Salem expenditures this year are part of the company's plans to spend $125,000,000 throughout its territory during the next five years. $30,000,000 of which will be spent during 1946, Willman said.

At the present time, the company is confronted with the biggest construction program in telephone history in the state with emphasis this year on catching up with demands for service which piled up during the war years due to the shortage of manpower and materials.

Every line and every connection is being used to furnish service to a customer on the waiting list for service. When all of these orders are filled and everyone who wants a telephone has one, the company will then go back to its usual practice of building up margins to provide for sudden fluctuations or rush demands for service.
